TREASURER'S REPORT ON FINANCES

Under Act of Mch. 16, 1832

"By the provisions of previous acts of the Legislature, it was made the duty of the Auditor General to make annual reports, exhibiting the state of the public finances; and subsequently, the commissioners of the internal improvement fund were required to make report, on the subject of finances connected with the objects of that fund, which would appear to be embraced within the scope of the act requiring the present report. Anxious to meet the views of the Legislature, the state treasurer concluded that it would be more satisfactory, and would perhaps best comport with the intention of the act, that his report should embrace the several subjects connected with the state of the treasury and the finances of the state, necessary to support the public credit and the faith of the commonwealth."

In Collected docs. as follows:
A few copies of some of the Senate journals seen contain the auditor's rept. in the appendix. No copies of editions seen in the original binding contained it. From 1828/9 to 1841/2 this rept. is frequently found bound with the ann. rept. of the treasurer. It is believed that this arrangement was adopted by private owners as a matter of convenience; it does not appear to have been used by the state binders and printers.

ACCOUNTS SETTLED BY AUDITOR GENERAL

Under sec. 50, act. of Mch. 30, 1811, requiring auditor general to make ann. stmt. of settlement of public accts.

1811-1878. Rept. of auditor gen. rel. to settlement of public accts. and payment of public moneys.

In Collected docs. as follows:

The rept. of 1873 was made in compliance with House res. of Jan. 29, requesting compliance with sec. 50 of act of Mch. 30, 1811, providing that the auditor general shall report annually a list of accts. which remain unsettled, etc. The auditor states: "At the time of the passage of this act the accts. to be settled by the auditor general were but few, being principally those of co. officers. These accts. were generally settled at the close of each year, and it was then perhaps practicable to report to the Legislature what accts., if any, remained unsettled. The business of the office, however, rapidly increased, and as the accts. became more numerous, it was found impracticable to make the report and the act of 1811, so far as it requires such a rept., has been a dead letter for more than half a century, no rept. having been made under its provisions since 1821." An enumeration of the kinds of accts. to be settled follows. "At that time there were no accts. to be settled agst. corporations, whereas now the principal revenue of the Commonwealth is derived from them. . . . ."

Unpaid claims; lack of provision for payment of mine inspectors and their clerks; total amt. required.

COMMITTEE OF WAYS AND MEANS

General financial reports by a committee of ways and means appointed at the beginning of the session of the Legislature were customary prior to the period covered by this Index, 1789, et seq. During the first half century under the Federal constitution the reports occur with regularity and contain, particularly in the earlier years, so many statistical statements that it seems worth while to group them here as a serial. The text of the reports has been analyzed and the items entered in the several non-serial groups to which they apply.

John Nicholson

It is stated in Lives of Eminent Philadelphians, by Henry Simpson, that during the Nicholson comptrollership (1782-1794) complications arose from the state of paper money and government credit; the resignation of the comptroller resulted from political persecution; a large portion of his private property was conveyed to joint-stock cos. to meet [personal] pecuniary engagements; as early as Mch., 1797, deeds were made to the Penn. Land Co. and individual creditors obtained judgment against him; the commonwealth had claims against him for unsettled land-warrants, stock-accounts, etc., in liquidation of which his lands reverted to the commonwealth and were later taken up or purchased by others.

PENNSYLVANIA

The title of the Proprietaries to all the unappropriated lands became vested in the Commonwealth by virtue of the act of Nov. 27, 1779, and by act of Apr. 9, 1781, a Land Office was created under the commonwealth consisting of three officers, viz., secretary of the land office, receiver general and surveyor general. The office of receiver general was abolished by act of Mch. 29, 1809, the duties being transferred to the secretary. By act of Apr. 17, 1843, the office of secretary was abolished and the duties conferred upon the surveyor-general. Under the Constitution of 1873, the surveyor general's and bureau of statistics' offices were merged into the office of the secretary of internal affairs.

Surveyor General

The office of surveyor general existed in 1681 under the proprietary govt. A list of the several surveyors general from 1861 to date can be found in Smull's Legislative Handbook, ed. 1905, and other editions. Apparently no regular reports were made by the surveyors general under the commonwealth until 1811 (see below, under the non-serial group, Land Office, 1800 and 1810). The appropriation act passed Dec., 1810 (House jol. 1810/1 : 801-802), contained a clause requiring an annual report from the land office. These reports were regularly submitted, as is shown by the entries in the journals, but were not printed until 1814/5.

1814/5-1874. Ann. rept. of the surveyor gen.

Pennsylvania Hospital

The Pennsylvania Hospital is a private institution, founded in 1751; $70,666.67 was appropriated by the Provincial Assembly for a building, and two donations were made by the State Legislature, viz.: £10,000 in 1792 out of arrears due the Commonwealth under loan office act and also unclaimed dividends of bankrupts' estates; $25,000 in 1796 for a building.

In 1836 the corner stone of the Department for the Insane was laid, and the hospital was opened in 1841 under the title "The Pennsylvania Hospital for the Insane."

Act of Mch. 20, 1872, authorized the sale of real estate belonging to the House of Refuge of Western Penn. and investment of the proceeds in another site within 50 miles of Pittsburgh; this act also changed the name of the institution to Pennsylvania Reform School. As the result of an investigation, the superintendent was removed, and an act was passed May 5, 1876, giving the Governor authority to appoint nearly all the managers of the school, thus placing it, to some extent, under state control.
